Dictionaries

1. Good, Carter V., ed. Dictionary of Education. 3d ed. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1973. ($17.50)

   The standard most comprehensive dictionary of technical and professional terms and concepts in education (33,000 entries). Excluded are proper names, names of persons, organizations, publication titles, etc. First published in 1945, with the second edition appearing in 1959. This present edition adds some 8,000 entries to the 1959 edition. However, it no longer contains listings for foreign terms in education.

2. U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. National Center for Education Statistics. Combined Glossary: Terms and Definitions From the Handbooks of the State Educational Records and Reports Series. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1974. ($5.25)

   This Combined Glossary contains terms and their definitions found in the 11 handbooks of standard educational terminology constituting the State Educational Records and Report Series. Represents an effort to provide uniformity in the reporting and retrieval of educational data.

3. Wolman, Benjamin B., comp. and ed. Dictionary of Behavioral Science. New York: Van Nostrand Reinhold, 1973. ($19.95)

   Defines some 20,000 terms from all areas of psychology (e.g., developmental, educational, experimental, industrial, learning, motivation, perception, personality, and social). Useful for interdisciplinary research.

Biographical Directories

4. Jacques Cattell Press, ed. Directory of American Scholars. 6th ed. 4 vols. New York: Bowker, 1974. Vol. 1: History. Vol. 2: English, Speech and Drama. Vol. 3: Foreign Languages, Linguistics and Philology. Vol. 4: Philosophy, Religion and Law. ($152.50)

   Published with the cooperation of the American Council of Learned Societies, this updated, 4-volume directory contains biographical material on more than 38,000 individuals. A new feature in each volume of this edition is a geographic index of biographees showing their area of specialization. In addition, Volume 4 also includes an alphabetical index, listing all names in the directory and the volume in which data appears.

5. Jacques Cattell Press, ed. Leaders in Education. 5th ed. New York: Bowker, 1974. ($49.50)

   Includes some 17,000 biographical sketches of persons active in the field of education due to their achievement by reason of experience and training, research activity or position in the educational community. In addition to a geographical index, this edition includes a new subject specialty field index. Includes the 50 states and territories, and Canada as well. Brief listings are given for 16 other foreign countries.

6. University of California. Chicano Studies Center. The National Directory of Chicano Faculty and Research. Los Angeles: Aztlan Publications, 1975. ($15.00; $10.95 paper)

   Lists over 1,400 Chicano faculty and researchers throughout the United States and Mexican researchers with an interest in the Chicano. Academic background, publications, current and projected teaching and research interests and activities are given.

Personnel/Institutional Directories

7. Accredited Institutions of Higher Education, 1974-75 Candidates. Washington, D.C.: American Council on Education, 1974. ($6.00)

This is the latest edition of this annual directory of accredited post-secondary educational institutions. Includes a separate listing of (1) candidates for accreditation, (2) major changes in two- and four-year institutions, and (3) major professional accrediting agencies.

8. American Film Institute. Guide to College Courses in Film and Television. Washington, D.C.: Acropolis Books, 1973. ($5.95)

Since 1969, American Film Institute has been conducting an annual survey of film study in the colleges. Of the 613 colleges listed as offering courses in film and television, an impressive 194 offer degrees. With the advent of recent interest in cinema criticism, history and memorabilia, this is a timely and very useful directory.

9. Directory of Accredited Private Trade and Technical Schools, 1974-75. Washington, D.C.: National Association of Trade and Technical Schools, 1975. (free)

Private schools offering technical and trade subjects and accredited by the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools Accrediting Commission are listed in this directory by types of training offered and by geographic location.

Good source of information for job oriented training. For example, it lists schools of barbering, data processing, medical assisting, and welding. Also indicates length of course.

10. Directory of Predominantly Black Colleges and Universities in the United States. Washington, D.C.: National Alliance of Businessmen, 1975. (free)

Alphabetical listing of 92 public and private predominantly Negro colleges and universities, degrees offered, institutional officers, and phone numbers. Detailed information on degrees offered by subject field. Developed recently as a recruiting aid for employers, this is a good source of current information.

11. The Educational Register. 34th ed. Boston, Mass.: Vincent/ Curtis, 1974. (free)

A combination of articles and descriptive advertisements of selected independent schools and colleges, summer study, travel programs, and private camps. A good source of information on private elementary/secondary schools (boarding and day) arranged geographically. Information is supplied by school/camp, etc.

While not as complete a directory as the Bunding Lyon's Blue Book or Porter Sargent's The Handbook of Private Schools, it is free and quite comprehensive. It is backed up with an information service in Boston (also free of charge).

12. Hollis, Joseph W. and Wantz, Richard A. Counselor Education Directory, 1974: Personnel and Programs. Muncie, Ind.: Accelerated Development, 1974. ($6.95)

A comprehensive listing of counselor education faculty and counselor education institutions and programs in all states and territories. Information on degree held and time spent in program and rank/title are given for all counselor education faculty in 444 colleges and universities. A separate section lists all institutions and all counselor education programs by degree and certification. Includes a separate alphabetical listing of personnel in the United States and its territories as identified by counselor education institutions and by state reports of education.

13. The Moton Guide to American Colleges with a Black Heritage. Washington, D.C.: Moton Consortium on Admissions and Financial Aid, 1974. (free)

Written for the student, provides essential information necessary for choosing a college. It includes two-year institutions. Helpful cross-reference indexes by subject field and institutions.

14. National Faculty Directory, 1975. 2 vols. Detroit: Gale Research, 1975. ($85.00)

An alphabetical list, with addresses of over 436,000 members of teaching faculties at institutions of higher education in the United States and Canadian institutions, using instructional materials primarily in English. Limited to personnel with classroom teaching responsibilities and therefore excludes non-teaching staff (librarians and administrators).

15. 1975 Community, Junior, and Technical College Directory. Washington, D.C.: American Association of Community and Junior Colleges, 1975. ($7.35)

Information (in tabular form) is provided on over 1,000 two-year institutions (non-profit only). Organized by state, current data is given on enrollments, accreditation, number of faculty, chief executive officer, phone numbers, etc.

Includes a list of community, junior and technical colleges, organizations as well as the list of two-year state administrators responsible for two-year colleges. Some state accredited schools not found in other directories are listed.

16. 1974-75 Directory of Visiting Lecturers and Research Scholars. Washington, D.C.: Council for International Exchange of Scholars, 1974. (free)

A directory of visiting scholars who have been awarded grants under the provisions of the Mutual Educational Exchange Program (Fulbright-Hays Act) for university lecturing and advanced research in the United States. Arranged by academic discipline, information is given on scholar's home institution, host institutions, duration of stay, and project while in the United States. Separate listing of visiting scholars by home country.

17. Piele, Philip K. and Smith, Stuart C. Directory of Organizations and Personnel in Educational Management. 4th ed. Eugene, Ore: ERIC Clearinghouse on Educational Management, 1974. (ED 089 392) ($4.20 hardcopy, $0.75 microfiche)

Covers non-profit organizations and over 500 researchers active in educational management (all aspects of the leadership, administration, and structure of public and private educational organizations) at all educational levels.

18. U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Office of Education. Education Directory. 4 vols. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office--

Education Directory, Education Associations, 1974. ($1.50)

National, college, state and regional associations, foundations, etc. Subject index.

Education Directory, Higher Education, 1973-74. ($5.30)

A directory of all accredited institutions, arranged by state, including two-year college level programs, and occupational studies beyond grade twelve.

Educational Directory, Public School Systems, 1973-74. ($2.25)

Lists, by state, names and other basic information and location of secondary school systems with 300 or more pupils.

Education Directory, State Governments 1971-73. ($1.00)

Lists principal officers of state education agencies having responsibilities for elementary and secondary and vocational-technical education in the 50 states and territories.

Other Directories

19. The College Blue Book: Scholarships, Fellowships, Grants and Loans. New York: Macmillan Information, 1975. ($29.95)

A supplemental volume to the College Blue Book. Arranged by academic endeavor, this volume is an aid to sources of financial assistance (foundations, government, corporations, etc.). Each entry includes a description of the organizations, its scope of interest, title and amount of award, qualifications, etc. Bibliography of additional resources.

This is the fourth volume of the new 15th edition of the College Blue Book scheduled for publication in August 1975. (The price for all four volumes will be $100).

20. Johnson, Willis L., ed. Directory of Special Programs for Minority Group Members, 1974: Career Information Services, Employment Skills Banks, Financial Aid. Garrett Park, Md.: Garrett Park Press, 1973. ($6.95)

A directory of special informational, educational, and employment programs for minority group members in over 900 organizations. Includes an alphabetical listing of all organizations and a program index.

21. Klein, Barry T., ed. Guide to American Educational Directories. 4th ed. Rye, N.Y.: Todd Publications, 1975. ($23.25)

Arranged by subject field, this is a directory of directories covering many areas of interest to educators. Each entry is annotated, and publisher and price given; publication date not given.

22. Patterson, Lewis D. 1975 Consortium Directory. 7th ed. Washington, D.C.: American Association of Higher Education, 1975. ($5.00)

A listing of 106 cooperative arrangements in higher education. For each consortium, information is given on history, purpose, members, and executive director; geographic index.

Federal Programs

23. U.S. Congress. House. Committee on Education and Labor. A Compilation of Federal Education Laws As Amended Through December 31, 1974. 94th Cong., 1st sess. Prepared for the Use of the House Committee on Education and Labor and the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare. Joint Committee Print. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1975. (Available from issuing committee.)

Includes full text of all federal education laws, as amended, and legislative history.

24. U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Office of Education. Annual Report of the U.S. Commissioner of Education, March 31, 1974. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1975. ($1.00)

Brief overview of the state of American education. This report, of course, goes back to 1867; back issues are invaluable for educational research. At times, it was not issued separately, but appeared as a part of the annual report of the Interior Department in which the Office of Education was once located. Some years, it was not issued at all.

Appendix A includes a summary page on Office of Education's advisory committees and councils. The function, membership and meeting dates for each is provided.

25. _____. Catalog of Federal Education Assistance Programs: An Indexed Guide to the Federal Government's Programs Offering Educational Benefits to the American People, 1974. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1974. ($5.55)

One-page descriptions of all federal educational programs. Includes all programs administered by federal agencies in support of educational services, professional training, or library services available to the general public. For each program, information is given on the type of assistance provided, its purpose, eligibility, and how to apply. Includes extensive indexes including public law and U.S. Code indexes.

26. American Statistics Index: A Comprehensive Guide and Index to the Statistical Publications of the U.S. Government. Washington, D.C.: Congressional Information Service, 1973 - .

Indexes and abstracts documents emanating from all significant federal sources of statistics including the major government producers of education statistics (Office of Education, National Science Foundation, Census, etc.)

27. Summary of School Statistics By County School Year 1974-75. Denver: Curriculum Information Center, 1974. ($20.00)

This summary is the first edition of a new service which compiles educational enrollment and funding information by school district. Public, private, vocational, county and independent schools districts are covered.

Originally developed as a sales/marketing tool for the education market, it is now being offered as an up-to-date source of statistical information.

28. U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. National Center for Education Statistics. The Condition of Education: A Statistical Report on the Condition of American Education, 1975. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1975. ($3.20)

This report, mandated by the Education Amendments of 1974, is a statistical description and interpretation of American education. It is the first in a series of annual reports on the condition of education. This year's report is participation: participation in education and participation in society, made possible through educational experiences. This new publication ties together past, present, and projected statistics for all levels of education.

29. _____. National Center for Education Statistics. Digest of Educational Statistics, 1974. 13th ed. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1975. ($2.50)

This, the latest edition of the Digest, provides an abstract of statistical information covering the broad field of American education and is compiled from government and nongovernmental sources. The thirteenth edition updates previous editions, contains new tables and charts, including new information on federal libraries, and summarizes data from the National Assessment of Education Programs and federal expenditures for research and development.

30. _____. National Center for Education Statistics. Projections of Educational Statistics to 1983-84. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1975. ($2.50)

This, the eleventh in a series of annual projections of data on education, provides ten-year projections of statistics for elementary and secondary schools and institutions of higher education. These statistics include enrollments, graduates, teachers and levels of expenditures.

31. _____. National Center for Education Statistics. Projects, Products, and Services of the National Center for Educational Statistics. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1974. ($1.75)

A useful guide to the myriad of surveys, programs and publications of the National Center for Educational Statistics. Each survey and resulting publication(s) is described in a brief listing of ongoing and future projects.

32. U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Office of Education. Office of Program Planning and Evaluation. A Study of Our Nation's Schools. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1972. ($2.00)

_____. A Study of the Achievement of Our Nation's Students. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1973. ($2.50)

_____. A Study of the Attitude Toward Life of our Nation's Students. Washington, D.C.: Government Printing Office, 1973. ($2.15)

These three volumes represent a major analysis of the survey of educational opportunity that the U.S. Office of Education carried out in the Fall of 1965. The Coleman Report, Equality of Educational Opportunity, was the first analysis. These reports present more detailed analysis of the original data.

Education Law

33. Delon, Floyd G. Yearbook of School Law, 1974. Topeka, Kansas: National Organization on Legal Problems of Education, 1974. ($9.95)

Published since 1933 (except for war years 1943-49), this annual NOLPE publication serves as a concise reference on the latest court decisions affecting school operations.

The current Yearbook summarizes and analyzes all of the preceding year's federal and state Supreme Court decisions that deal with school law. Includes a detailed index and table of cases.

34. Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights Under Law. A Study of State Legal Standards for the Provision of Public Education. Prepared for the National Institute of Education. Washington, D.C.: National Institute of Education, 1974.

This is a summary report of an NIE-supported national study to collect, categorize and compare current law on elementary and secondary education in all fifty states. Serves as a compendium of state constitutional, statutory, regulatory and administrative provisions relating to education.

35. Wollett, Donald H. and Chanin, Robert H. The Law and Practice of Teacher Negotiations (incorporating 1973 supplement). Washington, D.C.: Bureau of National Affairs, 1974. ($39.50)

A 1,571-page "how to do it" guide to the steps involved in collective negotiations between teacher organizations and school boards. Appendix includes the full text (as of May 1973) of state legislation on teacher negotiations organized by state. Table of relevant cases also included.

History of Education

36. Cohen, Sol, comp. Education in the United States: A Documentary History. 5 vols. New York: Random House, 1974. ($165.00)

This five-volume work brings together the most significant documents in the field of education extending from our English and European heritage, to American colonial beginnings, to the present. Chronologically arranged within topical chapters. Reproductions in full or in part, some from original text but mostly secondary sources. Volume 5 contains an extensive index to the set.

37. Warren, Donald R. To Enforce Education: A History of the Founding Years of the United States Office of Education. Detroit: Wayne State University Press, 1974. ($11.95)

A scholarly study of the development of the Office of Education and its evolving role in public educational policy. Since the founding years of the United States Office of Education coincide with the initial phase of American public school development, this is an important history of nineteenth century school reform and development in the nineteenth century.

Research in Education

38. Carnegie Commission on Higher Education. Priorities for Action: Final Report. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1973. ($10.00)

Reviews the objectives of the Commission and presents its principles, findings and recommendations. Appendices include title list of early reports in chronological order, a list of technical reports and reprints, and the table of contents of Carnegie Commission reports.

39. _____. A Digest of Reports of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1974. ($12.95)

Includes rather lengthy condensations of the 21 policy reports issued by the Commission, suggestions on "who should do what?" what the federal government should do, and an index to the Commission's recommendations.

40. _____. Sponsored Research of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1975. ($15.00)

Abstracts of the more than 80 research projects sponsored, in whole or in part, by the Commission. Includes books on profiles of the different types of the institutions of higher education, essays about American higher education as seen from the viewpoint of foreign observers, and books concerned with subjects of specific concern. Brief notes about individual researches. List of Carnegie Commission Reprints in chronological order.

41. Council for Educational Development and Research. CEDar Catalog of Educational Research and Development Programs and Products. 4th ed. 2 vols. Portland, Ore.: Commercial Educational Distributing, 1974. ($14.50)

This two-volume compilation provides an updated review of work being done at major research and development institutions in the United States. It includes descriptive listings (abstract, audience, sponsoring agency, etc.) of recently completed and on-going programs and products in educational research and development. Index.

42. ERIC Clearinghouse for Social Studies/Social Science Education. ERIC: What Is It, How to Use It. Boulder, Colo.: The Clearinghouse, 1974. ($35.00, National Audiovisual Center)

This is a multimedia kit developed by the ERIC Clearinghouse for Social Studies/Social Science Education. It consists of three filmstrips and accompanying cassette tapes. It also contains mock-ups of the ERIC research tools. Together these materials provide a basis for actively learning about ERIC and the ERIC search processes.

43. Kerlinger, Fred N., ed. Review of Research in Education 1. A publication of the American Educational Research Association. Itasca, Ill.: Peacock, 1973. ($12.50)

_____. Review of Research in Education 2. A publication of the American Educational Research Association. Itasca, Ill.: Peacock, 1974. ($15.00)

_____. Review of Research in Education 3. A publication of the American Educational Research Association. Itasca, Ill.: Peacock (Fall) 1975. ($13.50)

The Association Council of the American Research Association decided in 1970 to establish this annual series to review research in education. The purpose of series is to review, selectively and in depth, disciplined inquiry and research in education, with an emphasis on theory and empirical research.

While a variety of current and influential topics are covered, some certain fundamental topics, such as learning and instruction are stressed.

Chapters are in the form of state-of-the-art and bibliographic essays with lengthy bibliographies.

44. Krahmer, Edward and Morris, Clyde. Reading and Evaluating Educational Research. New York: Macmillan, 1974. ($12.95)

This is a guide on how to intelligently read, interpret, and evaluate the research of others. Includes a glossary of research terms and statistical symbols.

45. Thesaurus of ERIC Descriptors. 6th ed. New York: Macmillan Information, 1975. ($7.95 paperbound only)

The Thesaurus is the source for all subject headings used for indexing and for retrieval of documents, reports and periodical literature in the ERIC collection. Serves as an essential tool for using the ERIC system and as subject authority list in education.

This edition is scheduled for publication in the Fall and will include newly assigned descriptors as of June 1975. A new feature will be the inclusion of a hierarchical display of all ERIC descriptors.

46. U.S. Office of Education. Library. Bibliography of Research Studies in Education. Detroit: Gale Research (originally appeared in U.S. Office of Education bulletin series, 1928-41), 1974. 4 vols. Vol 1: 1926-1930. Vol. 2: 1930-1933. Vol. 3: 1933-1937. Vol. 4: 1937-1940. ($165.00)

This facsimile reprint is a primary research tool for the social scientist as well as the educational researcher. One of the major retrospective bibliographies in education for the years covered (1926-1940). In all, these volumes list 47,866 entries, most of which are annotated, in a classified list with author and subject indexes. Valuable source for pre-ERIC material.

Instructional Materials

47. Educator's Purchasing Guide. 6th ed. Philadelphia: American Publishing, 1974. ($29.50)

An annual service for educators concerned with materials and equipment, this is a two-part volume of educational product sources indexed and cross-indexed for quick and comprehensive usage. Educational materials and equipment are cataloged by grade level, discipline, topic and trade name, and cross-referenced. This is the standard manufacturer's catalog with no advertising.

48. Hoye, Robert E. and Wang, Anastasia C., eds. Index to Computer Based Learning. 4th ed. Englewood Cliffs, N.J.: Educational Technology Publications, 1973. ($18.95)

Formerly titled Index to Computer Assisted Instruction, this new edition is the most comprehensive listing of computer assisted instruction in the U.S. and abroad. Arranged by subject area. Detailed information is given on some 2,400 CAI programs and projects.

49. Index to Instructional Media Catalogs. New York: Bowker, 1974. ($19.95)

A buyer's guide to instructional materials and equipment from over 600 producers and publishers of some 40 types of media, classified by subject area. Includes a directory of represented companies.

50. Razik, Taher A. and Ramroth, Delgra M., comp. and eds. Bibliography of Research in Instructional Media. Educational Technology Bibliography Series, Vol. 2. Englewood Cliffs, N.J.: Educational Technology Publications, 1974. ($12.95)

A lengthy bibliography of some 3,500 references on instructional media research and evaluation from 1915 to 1973. Materials drawn primarily from ERIC and periodical literature.

51. Schrank, Jeffrey. The Seed Catalog: A Guide to Teaching/Learning Materials. Boston: Beacon Press, 1974. ($12.95)

Written in Whole Earth Catalog style, this volume is a guide to publications, organizations, A/V materials, games, etc., for use in the traditional and non-traditional learning environments. A provocative and creative guide to inexpensive learning materials for the high school and adult learners.

Alternative Education

52. Blaze, Wayne; Hertzberg, Bill; Krantz, Roy; and Lehrke, Al. Guide to Alternative Colleges and Universities. Boston: Beacon Press, 1974. ($4.25 paper)

Written in a breezy, informal style, this is a directory of some 250 innovative, experimental programs in higher education. Includes descriptions of campus-based B.S. programs (largest section), two-year A.A. programs, external degree programs, free universities and special programs. Published under the auspices of the Unitarian Universalist Association.

53. Directory of Alternative Public Schools, 1975. Bloomington, Ind.: Educational Alternatives Project, 1975. ($2.00)

This is a guide to U.S., Canadian, and a few foreign alternative educational projects, community schools, and continuation centers at the elementary-secondary levels. Approximately 1,500 citations.

54. A Directory of U.S. College and University Degrees for Part-Time Students. Washington, D.C.: National University Extension Association, 1973. ($1.95)

This directory is an initial effort by NUEA to provide a comprehensive listing of opportunities available to English-speaking persons to earn a college degree on a part-time basis. 2,848 degree programs in the United States, Puerto Rico, and American Samoa are listed. Arranged by state. Separate listing of contract degree programs.

55. Guide to Independent Study through Correspondence Instruction, 1973-1975. Washington, D.C.: National University Extension Association, 1973. ($.75)

A listing of the 62 NUEA members and their courses offered through correspondence. Arranged by academic subject.

56. Jenson, Jo. College by Mail. New York: Arco Publishing, 1972. ($4.00)

This is a more expanded presentation of the NUEA guide on the same subject. Includes more than 10,000 courses offered by NUEA members.

57. Lewchuk, Ross C., ed. National Register of Internships and Experimental Education. Washington, D.C.: Acropolis Books, 1973. ($3.95)

This book summarizes the present state of development in academic and professional internships, experiential education, and off-campus study in the U.S. A guide to program locations and bibliography of off-campus study.

Periodical Literature

58. America's Education Press. A Classified List of Educational Periodicals, 32nd ed. of the EdPress Yearbook. Glassboro, N.J.: Educational Press Association of America, 1974. ($7.50)

A comprehensive guide to 1,800 educational journals and newsletters published in the United States and Canada including some international publications. The classified arrangement of this guide make it extremely valuable in determining coverage of both general and specific areas of education. Complete information is provided for each title. Includes a title and editor index and listing of members of the Educational Press Association.

59. Arnold, Darlene Baden and Doyle, Kenneth O., Jr. Education/Psychology Journals: A Scholar's Guide. Metuchen, N.J.: Scarecrow Press, 1975. ($6.00)

This guide contains detailed descriptions of 122 major journals of broad interest to educators and psychologists with an emphasis on publications dealing with research methodology. Arranged alphabetically with subject index.

60. Hamilton, Malcolm, ed. Education Journals: A Union List. Cambridge, Mass.: Gutman Library, Harvard Graduate School of Education, 1974. ($5.00)

A union list of educational journal holdings of 35 special, academic, and school libraries in Massachusetts. A brief description of each contributing library, including information on percent of holdings in the field of education is provided.

Other

61. Buros, Oscar Krisen, ed. Tests in Print II. Highland Park, N.J.: Gryphon Press, 1974. ($70.00)

Like its predecessor, Tests in Print I, this edition serves as: (1) a comprehensive bibliography of all known tests published as separates for use with English-speaking subjects, (2) a classified index to all Mental Measurements Yearbooks published to date, and (3) includes a reprinting of Standards for Educational and Psychological Tests. This new edition adds several new features including a publishers' directory with a listing of each publisher's test titles.

62. Dye, Carl M. and Flora, Gerald B., eds. Directory of College Transfer Information. New York: Simon and Schuster, 1974. ($25.00)

An alphabetical listing of some 1,400 colleges and university profiles which include details of transfer requirements and financial aid. Supplemented by 11 separate indexes.

63. Goldman, Bert A. and Saunders, John L. Directory of Unpublished Experimental Mental Measures. New York: Behavioral Publications, 1974. ($12.95)

This directory supplements Buros' The Seventh Mental Measurements Yearbook by cataloging tests not available commercially and, therefore, not included in Buros. The present volume is the first in a series and is based on the 1970 issues of 29 journals, most of which are in the field of education.

64. Irwin, Judith T., ed. A Guide to Professional Development Opportunities for College and University Administrators. Washington, D.C.: Academy for Educational Development and American Council on Education, 1975. ($4.00)

A 221-page guide is designed to assist administrators in identifying a wide variety of seminars and other short-term professional development programs in management procedures and staff leadership development. By design, university degree programs and most of the annual professional association meetings are excluded. This is a course guide; the subjects range from Washington Internship in Education to technological forecasting. The coverage is wide and covers the general areas of personnel management, career planning, PPB and decision making, financial development and fund raising, and student services. A listing of courses by calendar date is included.
